Sunborn International Plc (together with its subsidiaries, the "Group") has brought the management of its two yacht hotels, Sunborn London and Sunborn Gibraltar, under a single director to improve operational efficiency.

Karen Thomson, a member of Sunborn's executive team and previously UK Country Manager, has been appointed Director, UK and Overseas Territories, with immediate effect. She is responsible for the operations of both hotels and reports to the CEO.

The responsibilities of the Chief Operating Officer have been combined with the new role. Marc Skvorc, who held that position, has left the Group.

"With one director responsible for both yacht hotels, our hotel operations have clear, unified leadership as the Group moves into its next phase of growth. Karen knows our operations well from Sunborn London, and I am pleased that she is taking on responsibility for both hotels. I would like to thank Marc for his contribution to Sunborn International and wish him all the best for the future," says Hans Niemi, CEO of Sunborn International Plc.
